

Are you interested in improving your cardiovascular health?

Researchers at the University of Florida are exploring how an alternative form of Vitamin B3, in combination with aerobic exercise, can lower systolic blood pressure in adults with hypertension.

If you are interested in learning if you qualify, please call us at 352.273.5919 or toll-free at 866.386.7730.

If eligible, you could receive monetary compensation.

The NEET Study

You may be eligible if you:

- Are at least 65 years old
- Do not have severe cardiac, orthopedic, or neurological diseases
- Are able to attend exercise sessions up to 3 days/week for 6 weeks

We appreciate your participation and will provide compensation for time and travel, parking and snacks.